Seniors Ride and Learn Free at City Colleges of Chicago

Education should be a lifelong process and Cheryl Hyman, Chancellor of the City Colleges of Chicago, offers excellent classes in nearly every subject matter.

Senior citizens (age 65 and older) can learn for free if they register during the first week of class, August 23-28, 2010. Tuition is waived for up to six credit hours (tuition-free). Seniors are not required to apply for financial aid to receive a waiver. All applicable fees still apply (registration fee, activity fee, labs, and books).

To learn about available classes, visit Malcolm X College, located at 1900 W. Van Buren Street or Harold Washington College, located at 30 East Lake Street, or any city college near you. Please visit www.ccc.edu for more information. To register please have available a state ID or driver's license, and an official transcript (if applicable) to avoid placement test.

To apply for free rides with the Chicago Transit Authority, Metra and Pace please call 1-888-YOUR-CTA.

If you need assistance accessing government programs, please visit the Constituent Service Center, located at 5104 W. Chicago Ave., or call (773) 378-5902, or by visiting www.lashawnford.com.
